TUTTLE THOUGHTS

As we get closer to the holidays and we begin to start our vacation, I want to remind you all about always being a Spark Student. It is not just how we act and behave at school that makes us a Spark student, it is how we behave in all situations.

At family get-togethers we should be engaged and not on our phones. Have a conversation, play a game, or even go for a walk together. Do things with the ones you love and show them that you care.

This year we have two full weeks of vacation and each of you should use this time to practice these skills that we have been talking about at Spark: Spirit, Perseverance, Accountability, Respect and Kindness.

We will be returning on January 6th and we will only have 9 more school days until the quarter ends. Please use your time wisely and get things done if you have been falling behind.

Happy holidays and please be safe. See you next year.
